Challenge Prompt

You've heard of RaaS, you've heard of SaaS... the Threat Actor Support Line brings the two together!

Upload the files you want encrypted, and the service will start up its own hacker computer (as the Administrator user with antivirus disabled, of course) and encrypt them for you!

WARNING

Some players have reported that while researching material that might help them with this challenge, they have discovered some public malicious Github repositories that embed malware under the guise of a tool or utility. These are external to the Huntress CTF, and while there is always potential for malware in outside/untrusted software, please exercise caution if you explore unknown third-party resources.
